

Where Do You Find a Spiritual Friend or Mate?

Contributed by Kristopher Raphael

Find your spiritual mate

Seven years ago I was alone. I felt good about the personal development and spiritual work I had been doing. But there was still something lacking in my life. I was longing for a deep connection with someone. I had a need to share my spirituality with an intimate other. I desired someone I could grow with, someone who shared the same interests and view of life and reality.

Through my spiritual work I had connected with a deep love inside and I wanted someone in my life I could extend this love to. Someone who was open to receive my love. Someone who would love me for who I was. I wanted someone I could create a conscious relationship with, where we could grow and evolve together.

But where do you find such a person? Where do you find a spiritual friend or mate?

Through teaching spiritual growth classes, I frequently hear people saying how difficult it is to find friends or relationships that share common values in their spiritual growth. I often receive emails asking me how they can find such people. When on a spiritual growth path it is difficult to find people you can share with and talk to about what you are going through.

When I found my Soul Mate, Kalyn, I felt complete and fulfilled. She shared my passion for life and spirituality. We connected and are still growing and evolving every day of our lives. For this I am eternally grateful.

Through my own experience I know how difficult it can be to find someone, whether it be an intimate relationship or just a friend to talk to. Seeing this, Kalyn and I formed a dream. We call this dream Friends-or-SoulMates.com, a place where people of like minds can connect. We invite you to be a part of this dream and help us bring it into reality.

I'm totally blown away, that you took the time to write, and acquire, (most don't even bother, they just want money). First let me say you guys have really been real good to me, and I can't say enough about you and your awesome service.

I just wanted to let you know that, I just recently became certified, in the computer field, and am now back to searching for a job in that field, although, things look not too promising, I'm a survivor, and will not give up. When I do find a job, (Even if it's not in my field) I will join your service, and that's a promise straight from the heart, as of right now I'm living on a very limited income, (actually an old retirement that I had earned a couple years back) and with the of prices gas and living on a bare minimum, it's almost gone, so Please I do encourage you to please be patient with me, and even if I don't find someone on your site you still deserve, my membership. You and your service have went above and beyond the call of duty, and that's what means the most the little things a person does, to not only touch someone, but by all means to better your business.

Thanks Sincerely for you time and patience.....and as my kids say

You're THE BOMB.....Sincerely Jim Simon
